To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, Federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify and record information that identifies each person who opens an account.

What this means for you: When you open or guaranty an account, we will ask for your name, address, date of birth and other information that will allow us to identify you. We may also ask to see and/or copy your driver's license and other identifying documents. Acceptable forms of identifications are as follows:

A) Organizational documents, good standing certificate and business license, if applicable, for Corporate Applicants and Corporate Guarantors;

B) Driver's license, Passport, Alien Identification Card, State Identification Card, and Law Enforcement Identity Card for individual Applicants and Guarantors.

I/we acknowledge that I/we received a copy of this disclosure
